

Introducing HealthAssure

A program designed to reduce the spread of communicable diseases for auto repair facilities.

Brought to you by GMG EnviroSafe,
the national leader in EHS compliance.

GMG EnviroSafe

Your team's health is at risk. So is the health of your business. But you can rest assured with HealthAssure.

The spread of illnesses and viruses are a concern in any environment, but in an auto repair facility, where numerous workers can be sharing the same tools and space, and where customers may be coming in and out, the risks can be even greater.

Employees want to know they are safe, now. Customers don't want to hold off on getting critical repair work completed due to contamination concerns—but they also want to be reassured their auto repair center is looking out for them and their well-being. That's why we developed HealthAssure, a comprehensive program developed in accordance with CDC and WHO guidelines and created especially for auto repair businesses. The HealthAssure program incorporates best practice safeguards to reduce the risk of communicable diseases, including COVID-19, with minimal business interruption.

Did you know ...

Sanitizing does not kill viruses like COVID-19? Your employees should understand the difference between cleaning, sanitizing and disinfecting—and how to do each properly.

The national leader in compliance and workplace safety now makes workplaces even safer.

For more than 30 years, GMG EnviroSafe has been the leading environmental health and safety authority for auto repair centers and dealerships across the country. We provide national expertise and local support, training and certification classes, industry-best tools and software and more to create better, safer workplaces. We help protect your business, your employees, and your community.

Assure your team and your customers you are looking out for their well-being, with HealthAssure.

We'll provide you with a road map to keep your business safe. We begin by creating a Communicable Disease Prevention Plan that is customized for your location. Then we follow it up with on-site inspections, regular meetings and consultations, and a wealth of available resources and information. Your team will have peace of mind knowing you are doing all you can to safeguard them. So will your insurance carriers, and your customers.

We provide:

- Regular on-site risk assessments
- Workforce and building preparation assistance and coaching
- On-site employee training, and onboarding for new employees
- Monthly bilingual safety meetings
- Directions on how to limit transmission to/from customers and vendors
- Detailed instruction of proper cleaning protocols and effective cleaning products
- Confirmation of adequate safety supplies, and PPE
- Recommended exposure response throughout your facility, including employee communication
- Proper infected employee actions, including return to work documentation
- Communicable disease risk management software
- Detailed information on CDC risk levels
- Local monitoring of cases, trends and health alerts

Did you know ...

If an employee catches COVID-19 at work and is hospitalized, the employer must notify OSHA within 24 hours?

Employee medical information is protected by ADA and HIPAA? The identity of an infected employee cannot be divulged by their employer.

Now more than ever, it's important for businesses to reduce the risk of communicable diseases. Deliver a safer, healthier environment for your employees and customers with HealthAssure from GMG EnviroSafe.
